ALONE AMONG MANY

Alone, but with friends
To help. Knowing they can only do so much.
Through ourselves we alone pursue the ends
Of happiness. They love us so much

That they would give their lives to help us
through a trial.
Yet one day their hands will itch by
their sides,
For once we are left alone for awhile
To fall back on what within oneself
alone abides.

Yet we are confident to face the world alone —
Alone among many. Ourselves, our friends,
our years spent here
Inspire soundest hope. We are far better able to atone
For the Past's defaults if we have not ourselves to fear.

MR. JOSEPH S. GULA

Who, as teacher, faculty manager, department head, and assistant headmaster through many years of devotion at Taunton High has always been willing to show students how to "get the job done"

to get an education, to learn, and mature.

In expressing our high esteem for this man, we reflect the sincere respect and admiration of Taunton High students — yesterday and today.

To the greatest "Taxicab Driver" of them all,
We the class of 1972, dedicate our

Time is a complex math problem, defined by axioms and postulates in the dimensions of our minds. Subtract it from today and yesterday will answer, add it to today and the solution is the unknown, multiply it and the product is our lives.

Coppercraft Guild®

Gifts of Distinction

by Master Craftsmen

A Coppercraft Show is a delightful experience . . .
It's different than most types of home shows . . . a tone
of refinement exists . . . the same courteous treatment prevails that would be extended in the most exclusive fashion shops.
A beautiful array of lovely copper gifts is displayed amid candlelight and floral decorations . . . unlike anything ever viewed in department stores or gift shops.
In many ways, the display so far exceeds expectations that the average guest is more grateful to her Hostess for having invited to attend such an impressive showing.
There's nothing quite so different, so breathtakingly lovely
as a Coppercraft Gift Show in the quiet and friendly atmosphere of a private home. No wonder every guest . . . every Hostess is delighted!

dear reader —
the 1972 journal is now complete and the words and pictures are not quite as individual or as impressive as they once were *
they can serve only to help you remember your own, individual memories * therefore,
journal 1972 should be regarded as an abstract rather than a concrete account of what should come to mind when you think back *
at this time we would like to say something about everyone who played a part in the conceiving of this book * we couldn't have done
it without mr. januse, mr. george, taylor
publishing company, purdy studios, the faculty,
administration, and student body * you all
made the pieces fit.

the editorial staff

i close the book;
but the past slides out of its leaves
to haunt me
and it seems, wherever i look,
phantoms of irreclaimable happiness
taunt me.

HOPE

What whispers to the soldiers in the trenches;
What shining light the soul drenches?
What goal do the sick seek in life;
What keeps men going on through strife?
What do the oppressed cling to;
What keeps the sad from feeling perpetually blue?
What tells man that pollution will not kill him;
What keeps the depressed from committing suicide on a whim?
When you walk down a dark and troubled street;
You will realize what makes you go on, walking on tired, blistered feet.
. . . Hope!
